CATEGORIES OF MEMBERSHIP

GOVERNMENTAL MEMBERSHIP

The OWP is made up primarily of member agencies. These include state, provincial, commonwealth, and federal agencies responsible for fish and wildlife resource management. These members have one vote per agency in OWP matters, and their staff are eligible to be officers. Annual dues are $250.

UNIVERSITY MEMBERSHIP

Universities and colleges may hold a university membership in the OWP. Qualification is determined by the OWP Executive Committee based on criteria as outlined in the OWP Bylaws. These members have one vote per institution. Annual dues are $250.

ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIP

An Association Membership is open to legally formed organizations who advocate comprehensive management of wildlife resources, subject to approval by the Executive Committee and upon payment of dues. Each Association Member is entitled to one (1) vote. The vote shall be cast by the official representative of the organization. Members are eligible to be an officer. Annual dues are $50.

INDIVIDUAL MEMBERSHIP

The OWP membership includes individuals with interest in application of comprehensive management approaches to fish and wildlife resource management. These individuals are often associated with agencies, colleges, tribal governments, consulting firms, and conservation clubs which are not Governmental, University or Associate Organization Members of OWP. Individual members have one vote. Annual dues are $25.
